DETAILED ACTION

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the description should match the reference characters used in the figures note figure 1 quantities I_{soll} ; n_{soll} ; etc.

Appropriate correction is required.

2. The drawings are objected to because of the various quantities such as I_{soll} ; n_{soll} ; etc. do not correspond to the quantities used in the specification. Also what the various black boxes are should be indicated on the drawing such as regulator 3 ; active damping element 5; etc. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, line 3, it is uncertain what the "rpm regulator " actually regulates since nothing recited in the claims actually rotates at any rpm. It is also uncertain if rpm represents revolutions per minute or not since nothing is rotating.

In claim 6, line 2, it is unclear what DTI represents.

In claim 8, line 2, it is unclear what PT2 represents.

In claim 12, line 2 it is unclear what a PT1 member is. It is also unclear where the output of said DT1 member is being supplied to.

In claim 17, line 2, it is unclear what the nominal rpm is being conducted over.

In claim 3, lines 6-7, it is unclear which " said integral component " is being referred to.

The other claims have problems similar to the various examples given above.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Norris et al. 6,296,093.

Norris et al. teaches compensating for vibration , use of a proportional terms $a_0; a_1$; etc.; integral component 42; eliminating d.c. bias 40; the z^{-1} terms perform a phase shift ; and 44 also serves as a summer for adding terms; etc. Norris also teaches that various actuators can be used and that the system can be used in machining. See the abstract; figure 2, col. 2, lines 35-67; col. 7, line 8 to col. 8, line 32.

Norris while teaching the use of the system in machining does not specifically state that it is numerically controlled.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to control the machining numerically so that the machining could be automated.

8. Claims 2 and 4-18 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Goto 6,216,047 is of interest in reducing vibration.
